started south, with port roundings on SW green, center yellow, east white, center yellow, then back north to finish. Shifty winds were light to non-existent. Before the start of the second heat, Mike's mast toppled over. We tried pushing the boat to the side of the ponds with the two remaining boats, but ended up using the fishing pole to retrieve it.

Gifford Hawn volunteered to serve as RD since we did not have a spare boat for him to sail. Gifford reports that there were three boats racing. All heats were started to the south, and three different courses (see below) were used in the 9 heats sailed. Wind was out of the south/southeast. The only excitement was when Mike's boat lost a sidestay and the mast fell into the water at the final turn of the first heat. With the other two boats helping, they got the crippled boat to the side of the pond. Racing continued after a brief break for repairs.

Today's DF65 race day had forecasts scattered thunderstorms with 4-7mph winds. Starting out, we had the sun peek out from behind the clouds and very light winds from the south. We started out southbound, orange to green and finish. After 4 races the wind increased and we started southbound to green and then north to green and finish. After 6 races, dark clouds rolled in from the north and we went back to the original shorter course. Race 7 had just started when severe thunder was heard and the golf course lightning horn sounded and the races were immediately suspended.

We had an interesting Soling race day at the pond on Saturday. We had 5 boats and 7 skippers, with light winds oscillating out of the North, East and Southwest. Four skippers shared Bill Rauen's two Solings. At the beginning, Bill shared the boats with his grandson and son-in-law (Aaron and Jon Montano), who were scored as part of Bill's club membership as family members. Later on, club member Douglas McLean joined us and used one of Bill's Solings.

We sailed 11 heats, starting south, with starboard roundings on the SE orange, then SW green then back north to finish. With some wind drooping to none at times, we could only use the south half of the pond.

We took care to note which skipper was sailing which boat in the two-boat rotation when each heat was recorded. I simplified the results tally by generating fake sail numbers for two of the four skippers.

A good day at the pond, hot with light and variable winds. Rich volunteered to be RD. Five boats, 10 races. We started with some short races to the north. Tried a couple of Start south to green, north to green. Then did some start south port around the bouys, through the gate starboard around the bouys finish. After getting Rich's boat off the north yellow bouy, thanks to Mikes excellent casting, we finished with some short races to the south.

Three Solings had mostly light breezes, some moderate, with typical shifts and some dead air at times. We sailed south, with port roundings on SW green, center yellow and then NE orange, N center yellow then back south to finish. We did take a hydration break, and paused between heats so folks could hydrate as needed. Mark and his daughter Mercy joined us for a while as they took a break from their bike ride. After ten heats, we called it quits as the temperatures continued to build.

Three Solings engaged in some competitive drifting at the pond on Saturday with light and fickle winds.

We because of light winds, we only used the southern half of the pond. We sailed south, with port roundings on SW green, center yellow and then finish for the first heat. All other heats made it two laps by adding port rounding of the eastern white buoy and a repeat of green, yellow port roundings.

Bill's boat was sporting a new suit of Carr sails. Despite the heat and challenging lack of consistent wind, we all had fun. Hydration breaks were important!

Four Solings enjoyed brisk winds at the pond. Boats were over-powered at times and equipment was tested, a few times to the breaking point.

As we prepared our boats for the first heat, the winds whipped around and managed to break the main boom on Bill's boat. Fortunately, he had brought a spare boat, which had a new, stronger sail servo installed. Later, in the 8th heat, that servo managed to pull out of the servo tray in the boat, so he was forced to retire for the last three heats.

Bill served as RD and had us start to the south, then SE orange, SW green, north to the NE orange, then NW green, then back south to finish. We sailed this figure 8 course for all 10 heats. Commodore Mark helped us "toe the line" by running the first few heats.

People found out how well their boats handled small amounts of water sloshing around in their boats and how that might cause wet electronics. In one heat, a sharp-eyed skipper notified me that my hatch cover had come off, so I retrieved the boat, bailed out the water, reset the hatch cover and competed in the next few heats.

Bill found out that the sail winch for his second boat (01) could not handle the stronger gusts, and Martin ended up removing the servo stretcher circuitry after it had got wet.

What looked like a bust with 3" of snow in the heights and a couple inches in Santa Fe, turned out to be a fun day with 6 sailors and 10 races. The day started out about 45 degrees with 2-5 variable winds. The sun came out and it warmed up to 50 degrees and we had a little more wind. After everyone agreed to 2 more races the sun left, temperature dropped to low 40s, rain/sleet/snow started and the wind picked up to 20mph! We made race 10 a short one. We had a new member, Bob Orchard, join us. Welcome Bob. And thank you to Martin Rexius for helping Bob get his boat tuned and providing some coaching. Also to Rich and Deb Leishman for helping with the RD duties.

We started out in typical light and variable winds, which filled in as the afternoon wore on. Since the wind was improving, we decided to keep racing for a total of twelve heats. We sailed a variety of 1/2 lap courses and had fun.

We had ten bouts of competitive drifting in low to non-existent winds at the pond today. We started south, with port side roundings of the SW green, SE orange and back north to finish between the white buoys. What little wind we had was out of the SW and W.

52	Doug McLean	5	33	6	4	3	5	4	5	5	5	5	2

We were greeted with thin ice covering about 1/2 the pond on Saturday. We started the first heat with the start/finish line running between the NE orange and NW green buoys, sailing south, with port roundings of the west white, east white, then back north to finish.

We took some time out to get things working on a loaner boat (#01) that Bill brought, so that Doug McLean would have a viable boat to sail. Since the servos were not working right, Doug switched to Soling #52 that I had brought as a loaner. At this point, most of the ice on the pond had melted so we moved to our normal start/finish line, then sailed south with port roundings on center yellow and SE orange and back north to finish.

A mom had brought her kids to the pond. She said they had a cruising sailboat at Elephant Butte, and one of her daughters sailed 01 in one of our heats as the rest of the family watched. Maybe they will return in the future?

34	Greg Kelly	5	48	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6	6

Five boats/sailors showed up but Greg's servo stopped working before he could even start the first race. Ten races with the first six without wind but a bit of a better breeze for heat 7 then 15 gusting to 40 for the last three! Three interested visitors had sailed before and two of them expressed serious interest!
